Issue No. 27—Released July 13.

A demonstration of the evils of bad sitting postures while working at a desk is the first subject of the screen magazine, Issue No. 27. Exercises to counteract the bad effects of sedentary pursuits are shown. Then comes the manufacture of a baseball, from the winding of the heart of yarn, to the stamping of the trade-mark. The Screen Magazine has started a question department, which furnishes a lot of humor. Science is represented by a demonstration of the unsuspected properties of well-known substances. At the end is a clay cartoon by Willie Hopkins entitled, "The Vegetable Kingdom."
